eminent speakers for the day were Dr. Sandeep Poddar, Senior Research Director, Lincoln University College, Malaysia and Dr. Priyank Pravin Patel, Assistant Professor, Department of Geography, Presidency University, Kolkata.

The event saw 130 registered participants from colleges, independent research institutions and universities across West Bengal as well as other states of India including but not limited to Odisha, Telengana, Delhi, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Bihar, and Assam. Participants ranged from college and university faculty, private educational institute faculty, research scholars, and students.

During the first technical session, Dr. Sandeep Poddar talked about plagiarism in research and scientific publications. The various types of plagiarism that there are and how an author may unwittingly commit such an act was explained in detail by Dr. Poddar. He also talked about the process of authenticating every literary work with plagiarism checkers.

During the second technical session, Dr. Priyank Patel discussed about the way to approach scientific literature and publication, ways to access various literature databases and the process of manuscript preparation. Dr. Patel explained in depth the current methods by which research publications are evaluated; the criteria and norms to be followed by all authors both technical and ethical when designing a publication. He gave practical examples of databases useful for publication and efficient ways to extract data from them.
